Amusements.

On Friday of next week Frederick Warde will produce at the New National Theater a version of "William Tell" made especially for him, partly from the play by Sheridan Knowles and partly from the original of Schiller. This grand romantle drama has not been seen on our stage since the days of Forest, with whom it was at one time a great favorite. Mme. Harding wore a magnificent gown as Clobifde at Albangh's last night, but she never changed it and there was a wall from the ladies for more gowns. Most women un-derstand gowns, don't you know, so much better than they do dramatic unities.

This chestnut was successfully worked off on Doorkeeper Buckingham at Albaugh's last night, notwithstanding he has been practicing French all the week.

"Jet adore," said Col. McSween to the Duke with a graceful bow and a tender smile.

"All right," replied the Duke, "I'll shut it as soon as the people stop coming in."

great, and that's what delian is.

"I. Aventuriere' was the play by the French company at Albaugh's last uight, and a brilliant audience filled the auditorium and boxes. The cast included Mm. Coquelin, Dugreesne, Borel, Jean Coquelin, Ramy, Hugnenet, and Messers, Hading and Kerwich. To night—Coquelin night—the Parisian sensation, "Los Surprises du Divorce."

The duel scene in the last act of "Monte Cristo" is thrilling, but its force is lessened by Mr. O'Neili's appeals to the gallery, by interpolating a few prize ring boasts, which would paralyze Dumas.

WILL BACK TEEMER.

McResporters Witt Bring $15,000 to Washington to Oblige Rodgers. It is asserted in sporting circles as a positive fact that $15,000 of McKeesport, Pa. meney will come to Washington this week to be ventured on John Teemer. Many of the betting fraternity who lost largely on Cleveland will back Teemer in hopes of getting even on what was lost by them on the Presidential contest. Barney Morris and Jake Weiskercher nave come to Washington. Ten more, including two of Teemer's brothers, started yesterday.

Hamm states Teemer is rowing faster now than he was before they left Mc-Keesport and at that time he was going fast enough to defeat O'Connor. He also says that while there Hosmer, who is traveling took a spin with Teemer, and told Hamm afterward that Teemer would have a "pudding" with O'Connor. Hamm says: "Tee mer has held no communication with O'Connor or Lee since the lass been here. I have it on good authority that fifty Toronto men will come to Washington with lots of boodle to put on O'Connor. I think Hedgers will find a taker for his $10,000, if it is not wind." Tosmer is in splendid condition—his skin clear, his eyes bright, his fiesh as firm as sole leather—and if he does not turn up a winner on Saturday it will be because O'Connor is the better man. The latter is also in as fine condition as can be, and nearly everybody thinks he has Hamm states Teemer is rowing faster be, and nearly everybody thinks he has the advantage in point of strength, Local boatmen, however, are inclined to pin their faith to Teemer. OBLIVION EXTRAORDINARY.

The Strange Infliction of Forgetfulness

A great many people are troubled with what may be called "habitual forgetfulness" in regard to some of the minor points of daily life, manifested, perhaps, in their inability to recall the names of those with whose faces they are perfectly familiar, or the number of their house, or the street upon which they re-side, while others were seized at times side, while others were seized at times with a temporary amnesic aphasia, scientifically speaking, upon endeavoring to state some fact which they literally have at the 'tongue's end,' but it is seldom the latter trouble is manifested in such a peculiar direction as a case which came under my observation a few days since. days since.

While propounding the usual preliminary questions to a woman who had presented her 2-year-old daughter for treatment, when I inquired the name of the child, she hesitated, and then, to my surprise, she admitted that she was unable to appear in the child. able to remember it. She then stated the child's age and the number of her residence correctly, but could not recall the name until after a lapse of several min-utes; in endeavoring to soothe the child, the name sprang naturally to her lips. This mother's forgetfulness upon such a matter as the name of her own child is as astonishing as the absence of mind exhibited by a prominent physician of this city, who, upon meeting his own daugh-ter on the street, politely inquired after the health of both herself and her pa-

Three Good Receipts.

For fifty pounds chopped pork, fat and lean ombined, add one pound two ounces best salt, four ounces each black pepper and pulverized sage, two ounces saltpetre dissolved in a gill of boiling water. Mix until thorougaly incorporated; then pack lightly into narrow cloth sacks and hang in a cool place. If not all consumed during cold weather, it will keep sweet until late in the spring. As many persons do not like high seasoned food, and if made only for present use, I should advise using only three ounces each of pepper and sage for the above amount of meat, the other proportions of seasoning being correct.

In rendering lard for family use we usually keep the lard from the latestines by itself and use it during the winter. For long keeping we cut the leaf into small sections and place it over a slow fire, stirring it often from the bottom lest it scoreb on the kettle (as we use no water), and cook it slowly until the scraps become slightly crisp, when we remove the kettle from the above and let stand until cool enough to handle safely. We then strain directly into well cleansed atone jars kept for the purpose and when cold cover and convey them to the cellar. Lard rendered in this way will be pure and white and keep perfectly sweet for an indefinite length of time.

I add a reliable receipt for curing hams. I add a reliable receipt for curing hams. To each 100 pounds of hams take eight pounds best coarse salt, two ounces saltpetre, two pounds brown sugar and four gallons water. Slightly rub the hams with fine salt, and pack firmly into the barrel. Mix the above after the hams have lain two days, and pour over them. Let the hams remain in the brine six weeks and they are then just right for smoking. We have used the above receipt for many years, and know whereof we write.

the Payorite Flower.

No one can prophesy in what direction the next marked improvement in the chrysanthemum may be looked for, but, judging from the past, striking varia-tions from the forms we are now familiar with may be expected. Those who stu-diously note the development of new seedlings are quick to mark the appearance of slight peculiarities, for these may be the forerunners of distinct types. For some years the appearance of hairlike growths from the under side of an occasional floret has been observed, but they were never sufficiently numerous to g 'e any character to the flower. But last year the remarkable variety, Mrs. Alpheus Hardy, was found in a Japanese importation, and in this each floret was thickly set with these slender growths, giving an entirely new character and expression to the head. up to a comparatively recent time the section with heiniated florets invariably had small heads, which did not show distinctly this characteristic. Some of the newer varieties of this type have florets three inches long, with four or more bifurcations, and spreading at least to three-quarters of an inch in width. In many cases the florets, for two-thirds of their leneth from the disc are tubular. In many cases the florets, for two-thirds of their length from the disc, are tubular, and then branch abruptly into their particular toothed forms. And the disposition of the florets is quite as interesting as their shape. In many cases their arrangement is flat; again they are reflexed, while in others still they are incurved and confused into a globular mass of slender shored. mass of slender shreds, which often show the upper and lower surface in each floret. But slight modifications of these characters are needed for the origination of a new class of chrysanthemums as distinct as any heretofore produced.

But whatever the forms with which the chrysanthemum may be endowed in the future, we may feel sure, from what we know of its inherited tendencies, that the flower will continue to show that reedom and fluent grace of outline which so strongly commend it to the taste

SALLOW WOMEN.

The Terrible Cause of Poor Complexions, Bad Health and Lack of Life Explained, "Why is it that so few American women have good complexions?" asked Mrs. Langtry on her first visit to America. Her question can be easily answered. Women are sallow because the blood does not circulate well through their bodies. It does not fill their cheeks with rich color and their eyes with brilliancy. It is "sluggish." What is the result? Bad color, weariness and poor health. What will prevent this? A gentle and pure atimulant that imparts strength, life and good circulation. This is precisely what Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey does. It is not a beverage; It is a health-giving remedy. It is admitted to have done more in making ladies stronger and healthler than any other preparation known to the world. It has the indorsement of elergymen, physicians and lady workers in the temperance cause, and it has never been known to fail in strengthening, restoring and benefiting. A well-known lady, writing on this subject, said:

"I can never describe the change that has taken place in my appearance and in my feetings. Instead of feeling tired and 'blue' as I "Why is it that so few American women have

"I can never describe the change that has taken place in my appearance and in my feelings. Instead of feeling tired and 'blue' as I once did, I am now strong and young, both in feeling and appearance. I had a great prejudice against the word 'Whiskey,' but since I have found that Duffy's is indeed a pure and harmless remedy, I feel like letting all women know what a grand help it is."

The experience of this lady has been verified in thousands of cases, and an innumerable number of women are kept in perfect health to-day wholly through this great remedy. To all purchasers we desire to say: "Be sure and secure the genuine and take no other." It is sold everywhere.
